

Almoinhas Velhas - Stunning! (Part I)

Malveira da Serra, Portugal

This villa in Malveira da Serra chose the softness of gray tones of the Portuguese limestone Ataíja Blue in a sandblasted finish on common floors throughout the house, interiors and exteriors that extend and widen, as well as baseboards and stairs.

For the countertops and kitchen island, Brecha Tavira marble was chosen, with a honed finish. A prominent place in open space.

This game between gray tones and nuanced finishes makes the final result cohesive, modern and sober. For our company it was a challenge and a pleasure to be part of this project.
